Call for papers submission to Special Issue of the AfJARE on Climate Change and African Agriculture

The African Journal of Agricultural and Resource Economics (AfJARE) plans to publish a special issue (SI) on the economics and policy of climate change and agriculture in Africa. Submissions are invited for the planned SI, the Guest Editors of which are: Rashid Hassan (CEEPA), Ariel Dinar (World Bank) and Robert Mendelsohn (Yale University). The Deadline for receiving manuscripts for this SI is set at April 30, 2007.

Please observe and follow the AfJARE guidelines for submission of manuscripts found on the journal website above (which are also attached with this call). Please indicate in your cover letter of submission that the manuscript is submitted to the AfJARE special issue on climate change and agriculture.

We look forward to receiving your contributions.

Rashid Hassan and Kimsey Savadogo
Chief Editors, AfJARE
